

Call for Timetabling & Capacity Manager

RailNetEurope (RNE) is an association of European Infrastructure Managers (IMs) and Allocation Bodies (ABs) with the common goal of facilitating international traffic on the European rail infrastructure and increasing the efficiency of the IM's/AB's processes. A key element for facilitating access to the European rail network is a harmonised timetabling process for international train path requests. At RNE, a growing team of Sales, Timetabling and Capacity Management experts and a dedicated IT team ensure that processes are developed, implemented and continuously improved.

Along with the ongoing work on implementing measures for a better harmonisation of the international timetabling and capacity management process, RNE (in cooperation with Forum Train Europe) has started the implementation of a completely new process for capacity management – the programme 'Timetabling and Capacity Redesign' (TTR). The objectives are: clear market orientation, greater reliability and punctuality, improved commitment to the international timetabling and capacity management process by all parties involved, greater efficiency and quality in terms of capacities and resources and a larger rail market share thanks to a better use of existing track capacity.

To expand the team, RNE is now looking for a Timetabling and Capacity Manager:

Responsibilities

- Development and improvement of timetabling and capacity management processes in the context of TTR with all relevant stakeholders, including the preparation and lead of dedicated meetings
- Support to IMs/ABs to apply agreed processes, including monitoring and measures to increase timetable qualities
- Provision of functional specification as input to IT systems' developments (capacity management systems)
- Support the coordination of implementing TTR components, including potential lead of respective work packages and task forces
- Leading specific projects in the area timetabling and capacity management

Qualifications & Skills

- Expert knowledge on the subject of timetabling and capacity management
- Process knowhow, also covering TCRs
- Advanced project management skills
- Good skills with MS Office and quick learner (as user) of other systems
- Ability to work in an international context and very good English language skills
- Ability to show own initiative and perseverance
- Excellent communication and support skills with the ability to work well in a team environment
- Ability to articulate IT functional requirements from user needs
- Used to working under time pressure

RNE offers the possibility for home office in a reasonable extent.

The tasks and responsibilities may change depending on the objectives and organisation of the association.

Candidates shall be available as soon as possible. If you have any questions regarding the position, please, feel free to contact us.

If you are interested in the position, please send your CV together with a letter of motivation (including possible starting date and salary expectations) to Mr. Martin Kreiter, Head of Sales & Capacity Management: martin.kreiter@rne.eu.

The minimum yearly gross salary is EUR 60.000,- (full time – 40h/week).

GDPR note:

Your job application requires submission of personal information to RNE. According to our internal rules the RNE Managing Board shall appoint the staff of the Joint Office in Vienna. As an association of more than 30 companies around Europe, RNE members provide their funding and are involved in its operations. With this said we inform all job applicants about the above particularities. Therefore, RNE human resources personnel (or HR agency on its behalf) and RNE management considering your application and RNE members will have access to your personal information included in your CV.

This is our way to find a balance between transparency in our organisation and your privacy. Thus, the applicants are explicitly asked to consent to this and with the submission of your job application we consider you agree and give an explicit consent on the above distributions of your CV to the RNE Managing Board members and the GA representatives.

In other words, by submitting your application, you consent to the processing of your personal data in the above way, and if hired, to the ongoing processing of your personal data for administrative purposes in connection with your employment.
